QUESTION: 312

At the beginning of the week, a special education teacher asked a group of students to generate a list of verbs that make visual or sound pictures. She suggests students think of verbs that mean ways of walking, talking, eating, sitting and playing. The students spend the remainder of the week compiling the list. They notice interesting verbs as they read books, remark on less common verbs they hear in conversation or on television and locate interesting verbs in signs, magazines and other printed materials. One child begins to draw pictures to illustrate some of the verbs. Two children collaborate to create a play in which they demonstrate some of the verbs in a dance. A boy writes a song incorporating the list of verbs. The project is extremely successful. At the end of the week the students have created the following list:

TIPTOE, SCOOT, MUMBLE, MUNCH, LEAP, SPIN, DIVE, POUNCE, GLIDE, SLITHER, MOAN, WHISPER, GRUMBLE, NIBBLE, SHRILL, HOLLER, PERCH, LEAN, STOMP, MARCH, GIGGLE, HOP, STRUT, SLOUCH, GULP, HOWL, WHINE, SLURP, CROUCH, DRIBBLE, DROOL, HOOT, YELP, YOWL, GROWL, WHISTLE, SHRIEK, SNICKER, INSULT, COMPLIMENT, PLEAD, BARK, WIGGLE, TWIST, SLINK, TODDLE, TRUDGE, WANDER, STROLL

The teacher's goal is to:

- A. Enhance students' understanding of theme by encouraging them to make connections between categories of verbs.
- B. Enhance students' vocabulary by encouraging them to find examples in the world around them.
- C. Enhance students' understanding of context by encouraging them to explore verbs for contextual clues.
- D. Enhance students' sense of curiosity by directing their attention to a number of different resources they may not have considered.

- B. Have students work on a class dictionary, putting the words in alphabetical order and explaining what they mean.
- C. Ask students to create a chart noting which verbs have 1, 2 or 3 syllables, which verbs contain double letters, which verbs are also nouns and which verbs have common word-endings.
- D. All of the above.

Answer: D

QUESTION: 314

A middle school Language Arts teacher begins each class with 10 minutes of journal writing. Students are free to write about whatever they choose. She reminds them this is the perfect place to react to something they've read, write about a problem and try to think of solutions, track a project they've undertaken and otherwise interact honestly with themselves. The teacher should periodically:

- A. Collect the journals and select an entry to edit; this will show the student how his writing can improve.
- B. Suggest new and innovative ways students can use their journals, including automatic writing, found poetry, lists, and collages.
- C. Collect and review the journals to identify students at risk for drugs, alcohol or sexual abuse.
- D. Say nothing about the journals during the school year. They are intensely private and discussing them in any way with the students violates trust.
